

The Mystery of the Royal Wedding Speech Swapper

Royalty from around the world were seated ready to listen to Prince Harry's speech at the Royal Wedding. However, when he put his hand into his pocket to get it, he found that his speech had been swapped for a dirty handkerchief!

As the Detective Chief Inspector on the case, it is your job to find out which royal prankster has got Prince Harry's speech. You have taken down the names and descriptions of 25 members of the Royal Family who were in the grounds of Windsor Castle on the day of the wedding. There are also five important clues that have been discovered.

To crack the case, you will need to solve each clue and check the information with the list of names. Will you be able to get Prince Harry's speech back to him before the end of the wedding?

Good luck!

Royal Family Descriptions

Name	Age	Hair Colour	Eye Colour	Favourite Snack
Prince Andrew	58	grey	grey	biscuits
Princess Anne	67	brown	blue	chocolate
Autumn Phillips	39	blonde	grey	biscuits
Princess Beatrice	29	ginger	green	crisps
Birgitte, Duchess of Gloucester	71	grey	blue	biscuits
Camilla Parker Bowles	70	white	blue	chocolate
Catherine Middleton	36	brown	green	fruit
Prince Charles	69	grey	blue	chocolate
Princess Charlotte	2	brown	blue	biscuits
Lady Cosima Windsor	8	brown	blue	chocolate
The Duke of Kent	82	grey	blue	fruit
Prince Edward	53	brown	blue	crisps
Queen Elizabeth II	91	grey	blue	fruit
Princess Eugenie	27	brown	grey	fruit
Prince George	4	blonde	brown	biscuits
James, Viscount Severn	10	brown	grey	chocolate
Lady Louise Windsor	14	blonde	grey	fruit
Mike Tindall	39	brown	grey	crisps
Peter Phillips	40	brown	blue	chocolate
Prince Philip	96	grey	blue	fruit
Prince Richard	73	grey	blue	fruit
Sir Timothy Laurence	62	brown	brown	crisps
Prince William	35	blonde	blue	chocolate
Zara Tindall	36	blonde	blue	fruit
Xan Windsor	11	brown	blue	chocolate

Clue 1

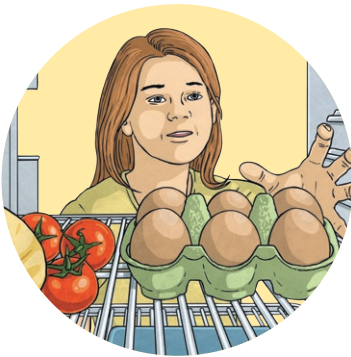

Where on Earth Could It Be?

We've looked high and low for Prince Harry's speech and it is nowhere to be seen... but we've found a lot of other strange things along the way. Each of these sentences is missing a preposition. Choose the correct preposition to complete the sentence.

Prepositions to choose from:

behind in between under

If you use 'behind' most, then the swapper has got blonde hair. If you use 'in' most, then they've got brown hair. If you use 'between' most, then the swapper has got ginger hair. If you use 'under' most, then they've got grey hair.

I found the eggs
_____ the fridge.

The alien peered from _____ the rock.

Sam hid _____ the duvet.

We got _____ the table during the earthquake.

The coats were hung _____ the wardrobe.

I sheltered _____ an umbrella.

A teddy was _____ the boxes.

The boy read _____ the tree.

The most used preposition was _____ so the speech swapper has got _____ hair.

Clue 2

Your Carriage Awaits

The Royal Family arrived at the wedding in horse-drawn carriages. The missing prefix in each word matches to one of the carriages. Draw a line to match the horse to the carriage it pulled. The carriage with the most horses pulling it will be the same colour as the speech swapper's eyes.

The Grey Carriage

The Brown Carriage

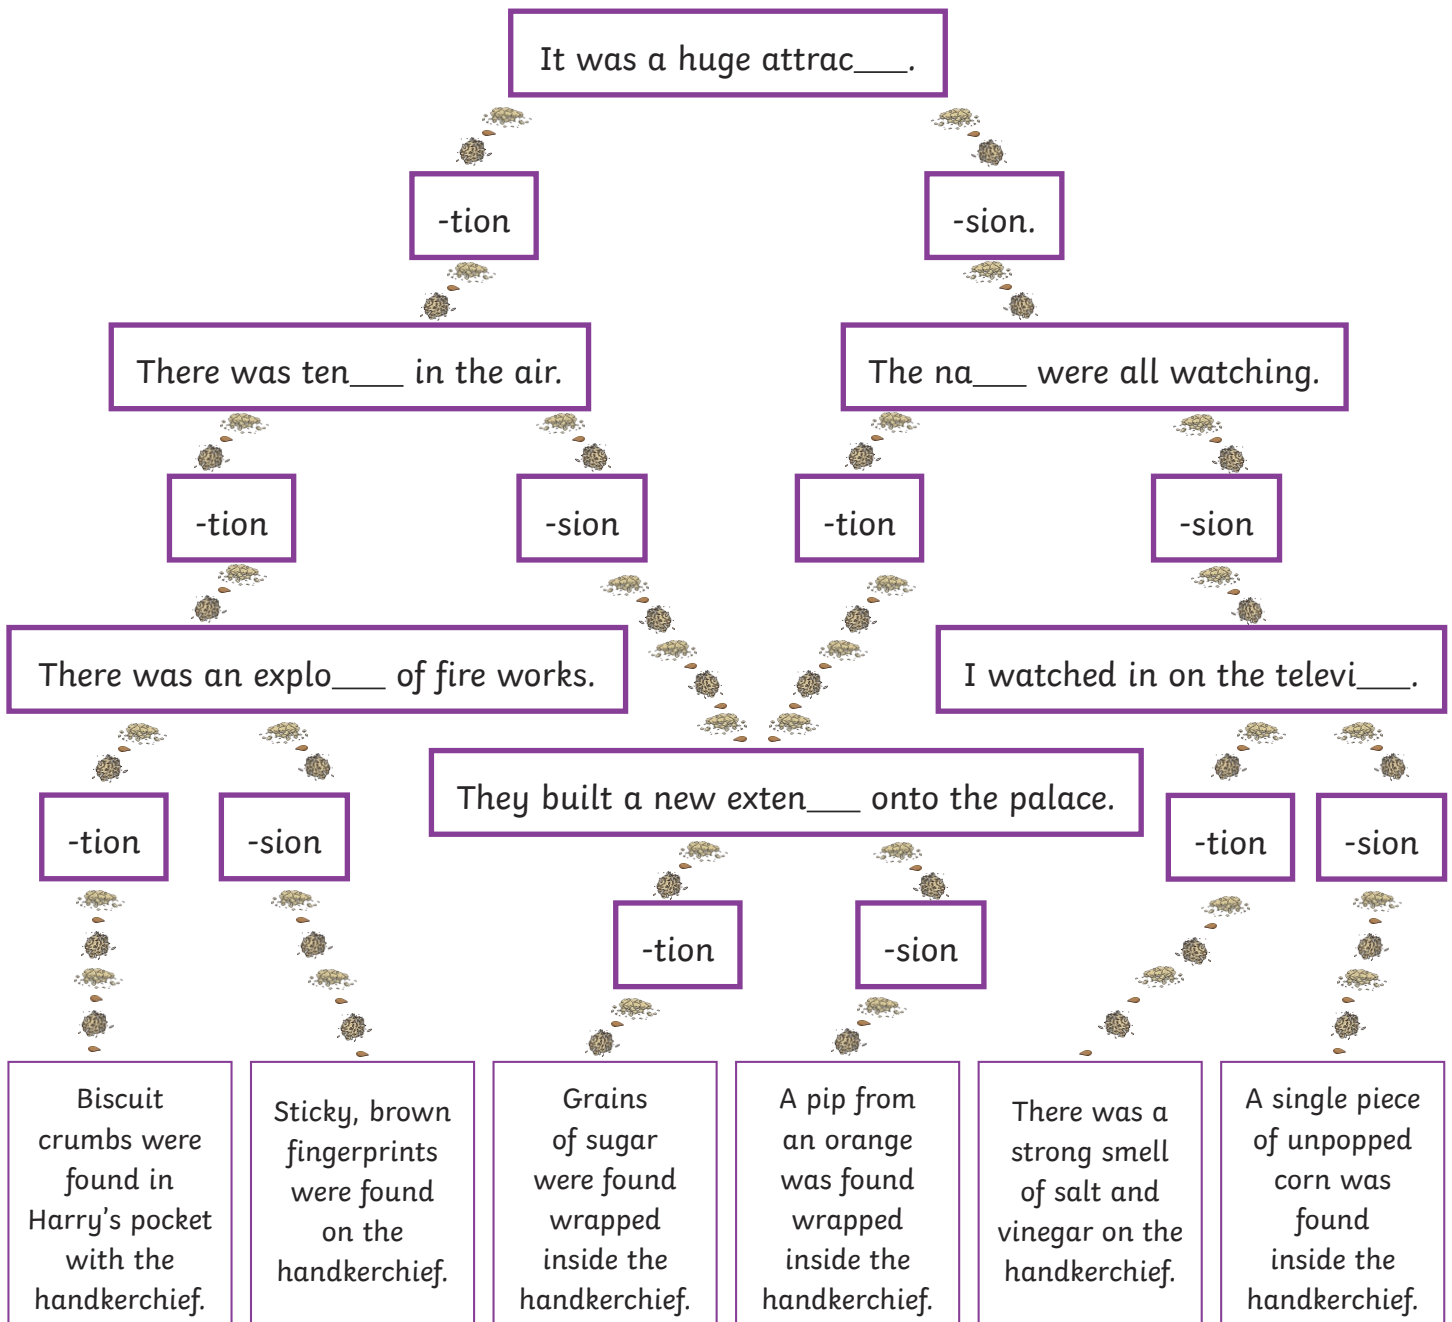

The Blue Carriage

The carriage with the most horses belongs to the prefix _____, so the speech swapper's eyes must be _____.

Clue 3

A Tasty Tip-Off

Follow the trail of crumbs from the royal buffet table to reveal a new piece of evidence recovered from the scene of the prank. Decide whether the word should end with the spelling pattern -tion or -sion to stay on the right path and find the prankster.

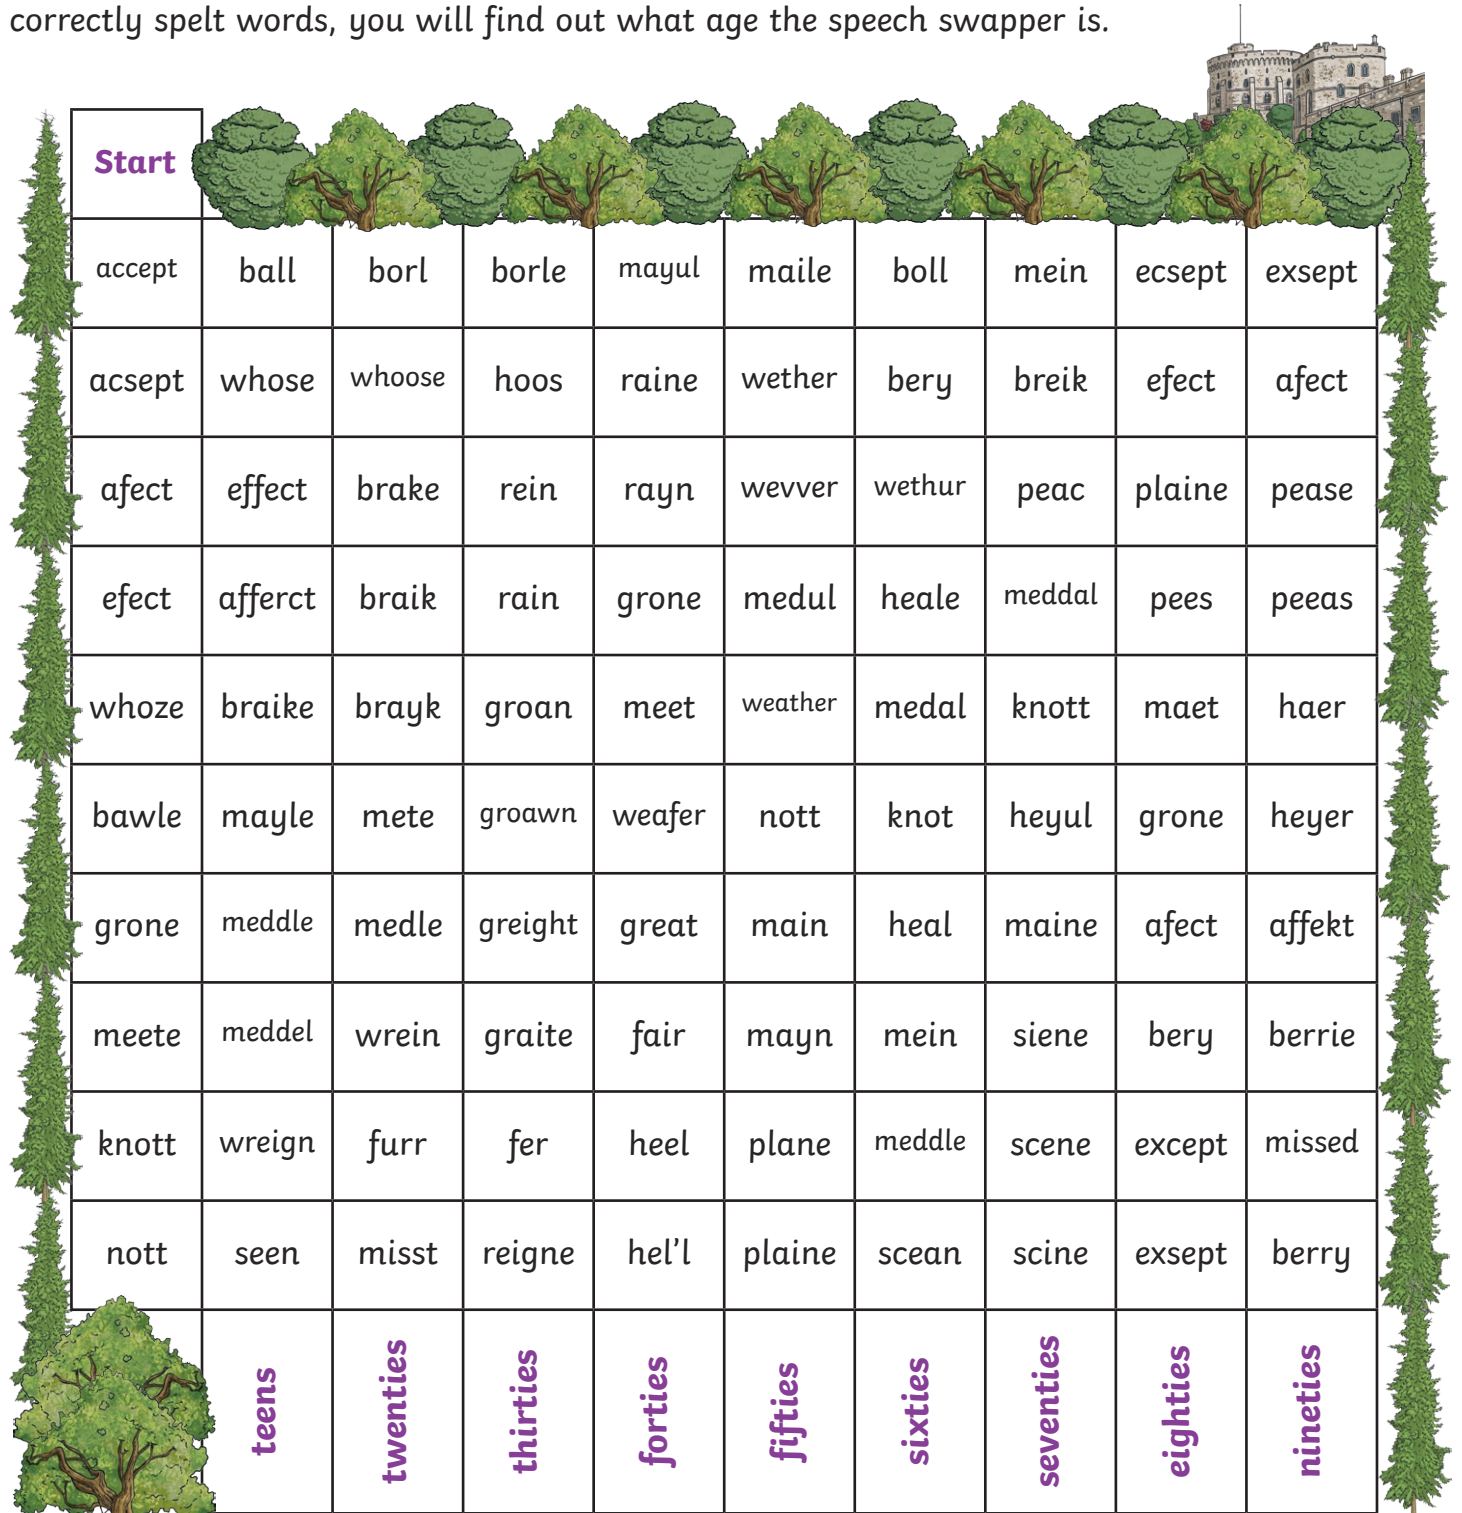

Based on the new piece of evidence you have discovered, what do you think the speech swapper's favourite snack must be?

☐ chocolate ☐ biscuits ☐ crisps ☐ fruit ☐ popcorn ☐ sweets

Clue 4

The Grounds of Windsor Castle

Within the grounds of Windsor Castle is a humongous maze, which the speech swapper would have had to have passed through on their way to the banquet. By following the path of correctly spelt words, you will find out what age the speech swapper is.

Start	accept	ball	borl	borle	mayul	maile	boll	mein	ecsept	exsept accept	whose	whoose	hoos	raine	wether	bery	breik	efect	affect affect	effect	brake	rein	rayn	wevver	wethur	peac	plaine	pease
efect	afferct	braik	rain	grone	medul	heale	meddal	pees	peeas
whoze	braike	brayk	groan	meet	weather	medal	knott	maet	haer
bawle	mayle	mete	groawn	weafer	nott	knot	heyul	grone	heyer
grone	meddle	medle	greight	great	main	heal	maine	affect	affekt
meete	meddel	wrein	grait	fair	mayn	mein	siene	bery	berrie
knott	wreign	furr	fer	heel	plane	meddle	scene	except	missed
nott	seen	misst	reigne	hel'l	plaine	scean	scine	exsept	berry
	teens	twenties	thirties	forties	fifties	sixties	seventies	eighties	nineties

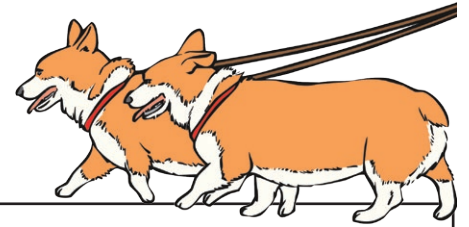

The speech swapper must be in their _____.

Clue 5

One's Royal Corgis

These Royal Wedding sentences have been written by The Queen's corgis. They have tried their hardest to use an apostrophe to show plural possession correctly. If they have used the apostrophe correctly, give the sentence a tick. If they have not used it correctly, put a cross.

If there are more ticks, the speech swapper is male.
If there are more crosses, the speech swapper is female.

Royal Wedding Sentence	✓ or X
The royal babies' bibs were red, white and blue.
Each one of the royal children's outfits was beautifully made.
The bridesmaids dresse's were made from silk.
The singers' voices were beautiful.
The ladies' bouquets were a wonderful shade of red.
Some of the carriages wheel's became extremely dirty.
The princesses dresses' all matched.
The horses' saddles glistened in the sunlight.
The mens' uniforms were smartly pressed.
Both families' enjoyment was obvious to everyone.

There were _____ ticks and _____ crosses. There were more _____ so the speech swapper must be _____.

Clue 1: Where on Earth Could It Be?

I found the eggs in the fridge.

The alien peered from behind the rock.

Sam hid under the duvet.

We got under the table during the earthquake.

The coats were hung in the wardrobe.

I sheltered under an umbrella.

A teddy was between the boxes.

The boy read under the tree.

Answer to clue 1: The most used preposition was under so the speech swapper has got grey hair.

Clue 2: Your Carriage Awaits

in-inactive incorrect inability mis-mistaken

misbehave

mislead

dis-disappointed disqualify disagree

disobey

Answer to clue 2: The carriage with the most horses belongs to the prefix dis-, so the speech swapper's eyes must be blue.

Clue 3: A Tasty Tip-Off

Answer to clue 3: Based on the new piece of evidence you have discovered, what do you think the speech swapper's favourite snack must be?

☐ chocolate ☐ biscuits ☐ crisps ☒ fruit ☐ popcorn ☐ sweets

Clue 4: The Ground of Windsor Castle

Start
accept	ball	borl	borle	mayul	maile	boll	mein	ecsept	exsept
acsept	whose	whoose	hoos	raine	wether	bergy	breik	efect	afect
afect	effect	brake	rein	rayn	wevver	wethur	peac	plaine	pease
efect	afferct	braik	rain	grone	medul	heale	meddal	pees	peeas
whoze	braike	brayk	groan	meet	weather	medal	knott	maet	haer
bawle	mayle	mete	groawn	weafer	nott	knot	heyul	grone	heyer
grone	meddle	medle	greight	great	main	heal	maine	afect	affekt
meete	meddel	wrein	graite	fair	mayn	mein	siene	bergy	berrie
knott	wreign	furr	fer	heel	plane	meddle	scene	except	missed
nott	seen	misst	reigne	hel'l	plaine	scean	scine	exsept	berry
	teens	twenties	thirties	forties	fifties	sixties	seventies	eighties	nineties

Answer to clue 4: The speech swapper must be in their nineties.

Clue 5: One's Royal Corgis

Royal Wedding Sentence	✓ or X
The royal babies' bibs were red, white and blue.	✓
Each one of the royal children's outfits was beautifully made.	✓
The bridesmaids dresse's were made from silk.	X
The singers' voices were beautiful.	✓
The ladies' bouquets were a wonderful shade of red.	✓
Some of the carriages wheel's became extremely dirty.	X
The princesses dresses' all matched.	X
The horses' saddles glistened in the sunlight.	✓
The mens' uniforms were smartly pressed.	X
Both families' enjoyment was obvious to everyone.	✓

Answer to clue 5: There were 6 ticks and 4 crosses. There were more ticks so the speech swapper must be male.

The Royal Wedding speech swapper was Prince Philip.